BULLER DEFEATS BOTHA:

BOER ARMY FLEES PROM LYDEN. BURG AND DIVIDES.

The Position Said to Be the Strongest One Occupied Since the Fighting at the Tugela River-Bellef That Gen. Theron Has Been Killed-Kruger and Steyn in Flight.

"Gens. Dundonald and Brocklehurst occupied Lydenburg yesterday. The forces of Gens.
Buller and Hamilton were then within five miles of the place. Their casualties were four wounded.

Gen. Hart has been engaging the enemy at Krugersdorp for the last few days, with a view o driving them from the railway.

"The Boers left four dead on the field, one of of the deceased contained letters to Theron from Gen. De Wet conveying official information of British movements

"Gen. Buller reports from Lydenburg that the Boer force has been divided, some of the troops having started for the north and the others toward Spitzkop. Most of their guns, the night there. stores and ammunition have been sent to Krugerspost.

Major White commanded at Ladybrand with a company of the Worcestershires and the Wiltshire Yeomanry, whose officers behaved most gallantly. The credit for their relief is due o Gen. Bruce Hamilton, who marched eighty miles in four and a half days."

A despatch from Reitfontein, of Sept. 7, says that the British have captured Lydenburg. The Boers were completely out-manœuvred. They bolted through the village in the direction of Pilgrim's Rest. Gen. Hamilton outflanked them on the right. causing them to evacuate their strong positions. They abandoned some of their artillery and shelled Buller's force to cover their retreat. Their projectiles fell short and the British sustained no casualties. Gen. Botha was chagrined over relinquishing the strongest position the Boers have held since they kept the British at bay at the Tugela River It is reported that ex-Presidents Krüger and Steyn have fled and that Gen. Hamilton is in

A despatch from Lord Roberts, dated Belf ast Sept. s, describes the operations preliminary to the capture of Lydenburg. Gen. Ian Hamilton was clearing the way for Buller's column. which was driving the enemy before it. Gen, Buller had sustained a loss of two wounded. Lord Roberts hoped that Gen. Hamilton had sustained no losses. The despatch continues: "Gen. Hildyard's troops occupied Wakkerstroom on Sept. 5, the Boers under Commandant Joshua Joubert retiring. The British had one killed and two wounded. "Commandant Dickson, in return for courtesies extended to Boer prisoners by Gen. Hulton, has promised to release six Canadians who were captured at the attacks on Pan and Wonder-

"The enemy continue to fire upon trains They are very persistent in their efforts to derait trains and destroy the lines. Scarcely a day or a night passes without accidents.

"Recently the Boers shot a driver and injured a stoker. Last night the Pretoria-Beliast train was derailed and the engine dynamited. The Boers opened fire, but there were sufficient soldiers travelling to drive them off."

Pretoria advices, dated Sept. 5, say that Gen. De Wet will join Theron's ! force in the neighborhood of Johannesburg. The Boers number 1,800 and hold a strong position in the hills, but they have no heavy guns. The British are pressing after this Word comes from Maseru, Basutoland, under Thursday's date, that numbers of the Boers killed during their attack on the Ladybrand garrison were immediately hidden. In order to deceive the British as to their losses many were dressed in the British uniforms.

SOUSA AND HIS BAND BACK.

Their Tour of Europe Most Successful-Some of Its Incidents.

John Phillip Sousa and his band of sixtyfive musicians returned vesterday on the St. Louis after a successful tour of four months in Europe. The band left here in May and since that time has visited thirty cities in four countries and given more than one hundred concerts. Paris, where the band played at the Exposition, heard more of it than any other city. On his return to London Mr. Sousa was urged to appear there, but declined as it is his intention to visit there, but declined as it is his intention to visit the English cities next year.

"We played four weeks in Paris," Mr. Sousa said yesterday to a SUN reporter, "and for seventeen days in Berlin. We gave nine concerts in Frankfort, eight in Hambu g, six in Cologne and four in Leipsic, Dresden, Munich, The Hague, Brussels and Amste dam. We only missed one performance and that was due to the intricacies of the German railroad system. We were going from Paris to Mannheim. By mistake the car containing the system. We were going from Paris to Mannheim. By mistake the car containing the members of the band was not switched off but carried south, and the audience, after waiting for some time, had to be dismissed. We were fortunate enough, however, to get most of them at Heidelberg the next night. Everything combined to make the tour a complete success. The attitude of the public was everywhe e most friendly and during all the tour of thirty-five cities we had only three unfavorable criticisms, and I will tell you just how unfavorable they were.

"One Berlin paper said that the band was not superior to the best German organizations, another in Leipste found that the 'lannhaeuser' admiration for American music unbounded Marches or rag time or more serious music delighted them equally. Some of the marches were known before we went there, especially the 'Washington Post' which is still a rage in Europe. A kind of dance has been built up around the music and that is also called by the name of the march. It differs a little in detail in France, but Papractically the same.

"When we were in Berlin a friend told me that he had heard the 'Washington Post' played during one evening by a German, Russian. that he had heard the 'Washington Post' played during one evening by a German, Russian, Hungarian and American band and that they all had their own idea as to the way it should be rendered. The newer marches were well known, and the audiences never seem to get enough of them. We were particularly favored by the attendance of officers throughout Germany. They seemed to enjoy the military music and were just as enthusiastic over the rag time. My manager, Col. George E. Henton, took a kodak picture of a group of them the day as they were trying to do a cake walk to some of the negro music the band was playing. They were in uniform and had no idea that they were being observed.

them one day as they were trying to do a cake walk to some of the negro music the band was playing. They were in uniform and had no iden that they were being observed.

"One of the most interesting experiences of the trip was playing 'Die Wacht am Rhein' in Paris. It had not been heard for thirty years there. We were coming back from tincennes on the boat the day the German pavillon was opened. As we came up to the pavillon on the boat we played the Marsell-laise'. The Star-Spangled Banner' and then 'Die Wacht am Rhein. We were compelled to repeat the serenade three times. It seemed to repeat the serenade three times. It seemed as if the music of the German national hymn had suddenly attracted the visitors from all tents of the Exposition ground. The spaces about the building were black with people. Notody had expected to hear 'Die Watch am Rhein' in Paris.

"Frequently during our tour on the Continent, we were asked to play the Boer national hymn, but I always declined on the ground that we never gave any performance that might be taken to have a political significance. Next year I shall play at the Glassow Exposition and afterward travel through the English cities and give a season in London. My manager tells me that has already received two offers for a season of a month in Berlin next summer. We can always go back and we are sure of a welcome. The Sousa Band is to begin a four weeks.

LOST A WEEK IN NEW YORK.

Mme. Ponroux Slept Twice in Parks, Once it a Cornfield. It was a week ago yesterday that the family Pouroux arrived in New York. Camille Pouroux was a skilled machinist in Dorchester, Mass. His wife, Juliette, was a thrifty woman. They managed to save $8,000 in ten years and they decided to go back to France and give the baby a good education. The baby, Germaine, is 2 years old Camille, Juliette and the baby went to a French boarding house at 78 Macdougal street, They intended to stay in New York for a week before going back to Farnce. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon a week ago yesterday Camille went over to Broadway to buy the steamer tickets. Yesterday was to be sailing day

While Camille was away getting the tickets, Mme. Pouroux put the baby in new clothes and went out to look at the town. She got over to Broadway and was carried along by whom is thought to be Gen. Theron. None has the human tide. There was so much to see yet recognized the body as his, but the pockets in the store windows that the city's lamps were lighted when she stopped on a street corner and realized that she was lost. She speaks no English. Going up to a woman she asked a question in French. The woman took her for a beggar and repulsed her. She found a bench in some one of the city parks and passed

On Sunday morning a park laborer came along and aroused her. He shought she said she was starving, and he offered her a sandwich was starving, and he offered her a sandwich from his dinner pail. When she shook her head to mean that hunger was not the matter the laborer poured coffee into a tin cup and motioned for her to give it to the baby. Germaine drank the coffee and her mother got up and walked on. She finally got to the Bridge up and walked on. She many got to the bridge entrance and got on a car.

She tried to tell the conductor that she wanted to find her husband. As he couldn't understand her he let her stay on the car until she reached Coney Island. For the remainder of the day she walked. At night she found herself in a cornfield. Tired and hungry she lay down with her baby.

That day's newspaper contained this general. That day's newspaper contained this general alarm sent out from Police Headquarters:

LOOK for Juliette Pouroux, French, 30 years old, can speak no English, and has a two-year old child with her. In case of any information leading to her whereabouts please notify husband.

CAMILLE POUROUX, at 78 MacDougal st.

On Monday morning Juliette Pouroux woke up in the cornfield and made her way to a farmhouse, where the farmer's wife gave her breakfast. After breakfast the farmer drove her to the Brooklyn Borough Hall and left her there. She walked for half an hour and saw the Brooklyn Bridge. She remembered having crossed the Bridge in a trolley car, so she got on a car and rode back to New York. At night again she slept in a city park. She spent Tuesday looking for the Macdougal street house. She saw a house that looked like it and went in and tried to explain. It was late, and a woman in the house permitted her and the child to sleep all night on the dining-room lounge.

On Wednesday morning she went tramping again. She was on Third avenue when she stopped a policeman and tried by signs to explain her predicament. The policeman was satisfied that the woman was explaining that she had no home. He wrote on a slip of paper: On Monday morning Juliette Pouroux woke paper:

"This woman and child are homeless. Direct them to the Night Shelter at 144 West Fifteenth

This woman and child are homeless. Direct them to the Night Shelter at 114 West Fifteenth street. He handed over the paper and started the woman through Fifteenth street. Now and then she stopped to show the slip to a passerby. In this way she reached the home for friendless women. At the Night Shelter they thought she was insane, but they kept her there for three days.

Yesterday morning she stood at Sixth avenue and Twenty-eighth street crying out in French to every one who passed. Policeman Kenny knew enough French to know that this was French and he went into a restaurant and got a waiter to act as interpreter. Through him the woman related that she had been lost for a week and in that time had not met any one in New York who understood French.

The policeman took Mme. Pouroux and her baby and the French waiter around to the West Thirtieth street station. Sergt Burns dug up the missing book and found the notice sent out from Police Headquarters. He telephoned to the chief operator at Headquarters, who had the address of Pouroux. Half an hour later Pouroux appeared at the West Thirtieth street station. Rushing toward his wife he held out his arms and shouted:

"Juilette!" "Camille!" she cried.
Locked in each others' arms the couple wept. Then Camille kissed the baby, and Juliette kissed Camille, and began to fly all over the station house. Turning to Sergt. Burns, Camille bowed politely and said:

"My wife he travel ze Unite State for a week looking for me. He say ze Unite State ver large. Monday we sail to ze old country. We are much happy, capteen; ver much, capteen; just like ze wedding day! Ver much!"

SEAWANHAKA CORINTHIAN REGATTA.

Thirty-three Yachts Race in Flaky Winds at Thirty-three yachts crossed the line in the fall regatta of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club yesterday. They raced over a triangular course. All the yachts, except the 18 and 21-foot sloops and catboats and 15-foot sloops, sailed twice around. These went once around. The course was north northwest three miles, then east by south one-half, south two and a quarter miles and then southwest by south two and a half miles. The starting line was at the entrance to Oyster Bay. The wind was from the east, but at the end of the round it died away and for a

The wind was from the east, but at the end of the round it died away and for a time the yachts lost all headway and drifted into each other and into the stakeboats. Then the wind came from the south and they were able to finish the race. The yachts were sent off in classes at five-minute intervals. They had a reach over the first leg of the course, a beat on the second and arun home.

In addition to the regular class race, the Norota and Ilderim had a special race, the licerim allowing half time. The Norota won this race easily, beating the Ilderim boat for boat. The Norota was the first boat to start and she led the Mirth II. and Ilderim allover the course.

The Audax and Flora met in the yawl class and the Audax won by more than half an hour. In the 38-loot class the Oiseau went over the line too soon at the start and had to return. This made her last and she was never dangerous in the race. The Alerion led from start to finish and Oiseau was second.

In the raceabout class the Raider led at the start, followed by the Colleen, Sis and Scamp. The Sis soon took the lead and won the race, with the Raider second. The table:

IN A GREAT STORM'S GRIP:

GALVESTON, TEX., CUT OFF; HEAVY LOSSES IN HOUSTON. Bulletin Saying the Storm Is the Worst Ever Known There-Other Towns Along the Coast Not Heard From-Serious Damage in Many Places-The Losses to Agriculture.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 9, 1 A. M.-A few minutes ago the following bulletin was received from storm ever known "Worst raging now. The people are panic-stricken. The wind is demolishing weak buildings and the streets are filled with flying debris. The damage will be heavy. Not a word yet from Galveston and the situation apparently growing worse. The storm is travelling to the interior of the State and much damage may be looked for." HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 9, 1 A. M .- There is an along the Gulf coast has played smash with the town of Rockport on the lower coast and that the great clubhouse built by E. H. R. Green near there has been blown away, with loss of life. There were several guests in the house, but report says that a cyclone raged through Liveoak county, but it could not have done much damage as that county is not thickly settled

The storm on the Texas coast has been flerce | and 2:24%. and there are all sorts of rumors as to damages done. As telegraph and telephone wires are down in every direction there is no way of confirming these rumors or of getting any accurate news as to what has really happened. It is known, however, that great damage has been done to the open cotton by the flerce beating rain and the high wind, and that rice is also badly damaged, as it was ready to harvest. The wind has blown a hurricane all day and has been accompanied by a driving rain in Houston.

Galveston is shut off from the rest of the earth; neither telegraph company nor the telephone company has a wire left standing. Not a train has come in or gone out to-day and none will get through to-night. A partial report came through by wire this afternoon. It said that the low streets on both sides of the city were inundated and that many persons had been driven from their homes along the beach by the encroaching waters; the water was standing in the street to the depth, of three feet and could not run off. The storm has caused the highest water for ten years. This morning the surf was breaking over the beach from East Broadway around to the foot of Twenty-fourth street, and the water crept in several blocks, and in low places had crept up the streets a dozen blocks.

New Obleans, Sept. 8.—Persistent rumors have reached Lake Charles to-day that Port Arthur, the southern terminus of the Kansas City and Southern Railroad, and the town of Sabine Pass, both on Sabine Lake, have been completely destroyed by the storm, with loss of The storm struck the Louisiana and Texas coast at that point with great fury. Sabine Pass was once before completely destroyed by a similar hurricane.

The West Indian hurricane which struck

New Orleans yesterday has continued to grow severer all day long, the wind reaching a velocity of fifty miles an hour. So far the losses reported are three persons killed or drowned, one vessel wrecked, half a dozen injured, the United States Quarantine station destroyed and considerable damage done to the railroads and crops. The city has suffered comparatively little from the storm beyond inconvenience, but bad news is coming in from some of the country districts and worse is feared.

The news is slow for the reason that nearly all the lines of communication with the adjacent country are down as a result of the storm. The telegraph to Port Eads, which gives connections with all the lower coast, is down and cannot be repaired for several days; so are also the telegraph wires along the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and the telephone wires to southeastern Louisiana. All trains are from two to seven hours late, and mails interrupted, no mail having been received from Grand Isle since Thursday.

To-day several of the ferries stopped running on account of the rough condition of the river. gan; those that left New Orleans are still held within the river at Port Eads, including two mule ships for South Africa. The only casualties from the storm so far are: Carrie Marischal, blown from a balcony, and Dr. O. H. Buford, and engineer Richard Quinn drowned. Both the men lost were young. Dr. Buford was from Chicago, and Quinn from Atlanta. In New Orleans the suburb of Milneburg is two feet under water and so are West End, Spanish Fort and the road to Lake Pontchartrain. The only damage done in the city is to the grain elevator, fences, roofs, &c. The Louisville and Nashville Railroad has suffered most, having a part of its track under water and its bridge over the Rigolets damaged by a collision with a vessel, the I. I. Clarke, which was driven against it by the storm. The Clarke sank from the effects of the collision, but the crew escaped by climbing on the bridge. The whole country along the Louisville and Nashville is under water, which is driven up from the Gulf by the strong wind. This is especially the case at Lake Catherine. No great damage has been done, however, save to the railroad.

On the Mississippi Gulf coast the damage is slight, but it is reported from Biloxi that the United States Quarantine station at Ship Island has been completely destroyed by the storm. The tide and wind on the Mississippi coast reached the highest point since the great storm of 1893, in which so many lives were lost. low New Orleans great damage has been done on the left or east bank of the Mississippi. while the west bank has wholly escaped. damage was caused on Monday, the storm driving up immense masses of salt water from the Gulf and bays, and flooding the land with it. The streets of Pointe à la Hache, the seat of justice of Plaquemine parish, are reported under water. At Grand Prairie and Coullet's Canal the sait water is standing four feet deep in the fields and will completely destroy the rice crop and truck farms of that section. At Buras the levee has been badly washed, the lock in the Buras Canal destroyed and a number of schooners and luggers, beached there for protection from the storm, have been badly injured.

Relative to the country west of the Mississippi, there are conflicting reports. Passengers on the Southern Pacific say that considerable damage was done by the storm and they saw fields of sugar cane and rice blown down, but telegrams declare the loss to the crop insignificant. Very little of the rice has matured in the fields, and had the storm been two weeks later it would have inflicted a loss of millions, as the rice would then have been ripe and would have been threshed out by the storm.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 8.—All wire communication between Dallas and Galveston is cut off. Telegraph and telephone lines are down. The last bulletins received here said that the storm was raging violently and that bathhouses along the beach has been swept away. The water was threatening the business part of the town. Keen anxiety is felt at Dallas.

Later reports indicate greater damage by the storm than at first report. The Gus Hunter sunk in Bayou Soniat to-day, the crew escaping. At Diamond, in Plaquemine parish, the crops, mainly rice and vegetables, are reported 50 per cent. damaged by the salt water. Lake Charles reports the rice crops of Calcasicu, Vermillion and Acada parish 25 per cent. damaged by the storm, and the damage will be increased to 50 per cent. if the storm continues two days longer. The rice was fortunately green or it would have suffered much worse. The canal plants of the irrigating companies which supply the rice farms with water have been damaged from 25 to 50 per cent. Telegraph and telephone lines are down. The CLEVELAND. Sept. 8.-The world's record for a trotting stallion to wagon was reduced to 2:00% at the Cleveland matinee to-day by John A. McKerrón, whose sulky record is 2:1212. It is also the fastest heat ever made in matinee racing. He was driven by his owner, H. K. Devereux, and it was all the more remarkable as the horse had just recovered from a heavy cold.

CLEVER AMATEUR REINSMEN. The Road Drivers' Association Matinee a Big Success.

That light-harness racing is a popular sport with the public was evidenced by the fact that nearly ten thousand persons journeyed to the Empire City track yesterday afternoon to witness the racing programme of the Road Drivers' Association. The grand stand was filled almost to its capacity, nearly half of the occupants being women, who displayed quite as much if not more enthusiasm than did the men. They picked horses on every event which they thought would win, with a reckless disregard of records or speed qualities, and gave expression to their feelings in enthusiastic handclapping or exclamations of sympathy as their favorites showed in front or were left in the ruck.

Every event was contested without the delays which have been a source of annoyance heretofore. The new rules worked well, unconfirmed report that the hurricane raging and with judges in the stand who would enforce them without fear or favor there was no "kicking." The fact that seven events were decided before nightfall shows that it is possible to pull off amateur races in good style. One of the noticeable feattheir names are not known here, and the same ures of the afternoon was that the 2:40 trotters showed far ahead of the pacers in the same class. The pacers could do no better than 2:41%, while the trotters went heats in 2:23% The greatest enthusiasm was aroused in the > exciting finish of the day. In the first heat the horses were sent away with John F. Cockerill's kival, hooked with Swift, on a break and he galloped from wire to wire. The teams driven by W. C. Floyd-Jones and L. Whitehead did the racing. The latter L. Whitehead did the racing. The latter held a short lead until his horses made a standstill break on the backstretch and the Floyd-Jones team gained a long lead. The Cockerill team went up on him at the head of the stretch, with Ri vastill on the run. Mr. Floyd-Jones, however, kept his team squarely on the trot and was under the wire on close to even terms. The judges distanced Rival and Swift for running. The second heat was a pretty contest between the Whitehead pair and the Floyd-Jones representatives. Both teams broke once or twice, but down the stretch the race was good until Knoxena and Casselton made a mistake and Mr. Whitehead's team finished in front. The third heat showed a fine horse race as could be desired. There was not a length's difference between them all the way, with both on a trot. Down the stretch Saratoga Belle and Marion Wilkes were at the saddle of the Floyd-Jones team. Both drivers were driving their best, and then spectators yelled in excitement. Passing the distance post the Whitehead team was gaining, inch by inch, and many were of the opinion that they had the race, but within 100 leet of the wire they broke and their chance for victory was gone. held a short lead until his horses

> In the pacing event for the Gwathmey cup only two of the six entries showed for the word. It was an easy win for P. W. Schildwachter's Speedway crack, Bail Bearing, over Homer Davenport's Ned. There was a stirring, pretty finish in the 2:15 too between Martha and Neilson, with the others strung out. Martha went from outside place and took the lead on the backstretch. Neilson made a race for it down to the wire, but was unable to head the mare. The 2:22 pace was between Flora McIvor and Nymph. They made two close finishes, but Flora had the most speed. Lucre had it easy in the 2:15 pace. Sir Eld being the only contestant. A losing break let the latter out of it.

B. Gwathmey's Tiverton had it pretty much his own way. In the second heat Tiverton went to the half in 2:10, with D. Lamar's Royalto right on his saddle. It was the eighth heat he had trotted during the afternoon. It was a remarkably good half under the circumstances for wagon hores.

OBITUARY.

Themson Kingsford, head of the firm of T. Kingsford & Son, starch manufacturers, died at his home in Oswego on Friday night from a stroke of paralysis which he received a week ago. Mr. Kingsford was born in Kent, England, April 4, 1828, and came to this country with his parents when 5 years old. Hs father was the founder of the starch company in Bergen county, N. J., and in 1846 took his son into partnership. In 1848 the firm moved to Oswego, where the industry has become the leading one of the city, furnishing employment to many hundreds of people. At the death of his father in 1869, Thomas Kingsford became the head of the firm. Mr. Kingsford was a trustee of Colgate University, at Hamilton, also of Wells College at Aurora. In politics he was a Republican and represented his county in the State conventions which nominated Alonzo B. Cornell and Charles J. Folger for Governor, respectively, in 1879, and 1882. Mr. Kingsford's estate is estimated at $3,000,000. King-ford's estate is estimated at $3,00,000.

A telegram from La Gaudiviere, France, announces the death, on his estate there, of Gen. Augustus Reichard, formerly of New Orleans. He was a native of Saxony, Germany, where he was born in 1819. He went to Louislana in 1845, and embarked in the cotton business, with branch houses in Liverpool and Bremen. He entered the Confederate army at the outbreak of the Civil Warand, having had some military experience in Germany, rose to the rank of Brigadier-General. After the war, he returned to the cotton business as well as sugar planting and acquired a large fortune composed of sugar plantations and New Orleans real estate. In 181 he returned to Dresden, to live the life of a retired business man, but found Saxony changed, and finally settled in France, buying the Chateau La Gaudiviere, where he has ever since resided, although continuing to hold large properties in New Orleans.

though continuing to hold large properties in New Orleans.

Andrew J. Eckles, a member of the New York Cotton Exchange for fifteen years, died on Friday night at his home, 317 Adelphi street, Brooklyn. He was about 50 years of age, and had been in poor health for a long time. The immediate cause of death was heart disease. He leaves a widow, whose sister is the wife of Walter T. Miller, a prominent member of the Cotton Exchange.

William H. Leverich, a retired Brooklyn builder, died yesterday at his home, 212 Fifty-seventh street, in that borough, where he lived more than fifty years. His family were descended from the Leverichs, who were among the original settlers of Newtown, 1. J. He leaves two sons and a daughter.

Mrs. Mary R. Shanks, wife of William F. G. Shanks, President of the National Press Intelligence Company, died on Friday at her home, 347 Ninth street, Brooklyn. She was a daughter, of the late Warnack Lynn of Louisville, Ky and was married to Mr. Shanks in 1862. She leaves three sons.

Mrs. Jane McMillan Burrows, the mother of former Park Commissioner Samuel McMillan, died vesterday afternoon at her son's home in Morris Heights. She was 56 years of age. James B. Brady, formerly a School Commis-gioner, died yesterday at his home, 1552 Broad-way, in his seventy-sixth year.

CHARGES AGAINST DEVERY FILED.

Paner-That's What They Are. Says President York-Riot Inquiry to Go On as Begun. President York of the Police Board had not changed his mind yesterday in regard to the way in which the board's investigation into the charge of brutality on the part of policemen in the recent race riots on the West Side was to be conducted.

"What I told Mr. Moss yesterday I repeat today," said Mr. York to a reporter. "Neither

"What I told Mr. Moss yesterday I repeat today," said Mr. York to a reporter, "Neither he nor any other lawyer will be allowed to question witnesses during this investigation.
This is an investigation, not a trial. I thas been ordered by the Police Board to be held undar the Committee on Rules and Discipline, of which I am chairman. I shall, therefore, conduct this investigation as I see fit. If Mr. Moss or anybody else has any evidence to offer, we will be glad to get it, but this investigation isn't going to be conducted for the purpose of letting every one who poses as representing the world at large come here and fire off a flood of eloquence for the benefit of the newspapers. That kind of thing makes me tired."

"What will the board do with the charges preferred against Chief Devery, Inspector Thompson and Capt. Cooney?" Mr. York was asked.

"What charges?"

"The charges specified on the paper Mr. Mose handed to you yesterday."

"Paper?" said President York. "That's a good word. That's what they are—paper.
The board is investigating to see if charges of any sort shall be entertained. If the board finds that there is evidence to justify preferring charges, then will be the time to prefer them.
The board isn't going to consider seriously the charges which any man who wants to pose as the disinterested reformer of all the faults of human nature happens to lay before us.
We want the facts first. In the meantime Mr. Moss's charges are filed."

"Eapt. Cooney, Mr. York said, could not be considered to blame for any clubbing that occurred in his station unless he had seen it and he didn't see any.

"In fact," added Mr. York, "Elliott will have hard time showing that there was chabbing in

"In fact," added Mr. York, "Elliott will have a hard time showing that there was clubbing in the West Thirty-seventh street station. Why, yesterday he couldn't even identify the ser-geant who was on the desk that night."

PRESSMEN'S UNION SPLIT And a Number of Suits Involving Union Funds Have Resulted. Suit has been begun in the Supreme Court by the International Pressmen and Assistants' Union against Franklin Association No. 23 of Pressmen and Assistants to recover $2,000 alleged to be owing for six months' dues. Up to about a week ago the Franklin Association to about a week ago the Franklin Association was affiliated with the International Union, but it has since split into two factions, one of which seceded, the other faction remaining loval to the International Union, so that there are two Franklin associations now, each of which says it is the original one.

The association had a fund of $10,000 in three savings banks. The seceders have enjoined the banks from paying any money to the loyal faction and have notified the Post Office not to deliver any mail to any one which is addressed to the old headquarters of the union. It is said that the two factions are defendants in the suit brought by the international union.
